INDIANA ALL STARS

By: PAT AIKMAN, INDIANA ALL-STAR GAMES DIRECTOR

Shooting for an attendance this June of over 8,000, the Indiana All-Star basketball teams will work on extending their current dominance over the Kentucky High School All-Stars.

The World Series of High School Basketball will send the Hoosiers against the Bluegrass squads June 16 in Bowling Green, KY on the Western Kentucky University court. A week later action resumes in the 67-year-old series in Conseco Fieldhouse on June 23.

Larry Pringle, Triton Central, and Mike Miller, Lawrence Central, are directing the Indiana girls' and boys' squads respectively. Pringle will be assisted by Marty Niehaus of Forest Park and Curt Bell of New Castle. Jerry Bomholt, Shawe Memorial, and Murray Mendenhall, Fort Wayne Wayne, will aid Miller.

Indiana's boys have won 14 of the past 16 games with Kentucky, including sweeps in 2006, 2005, 2003, 2002, 2000 and 1999. The all-time boys record has Indiana with a 77-41 series lead.

The news is just as good for the girls. After trailing Kentucky in the series 21-11 in 1991, the Indiana team has taken 22 of the past 28 games to move out ahead in the series, 34-28, including sweeps in 2006, 2004, 2000, 1999, 1996, 1995, 1994, and 1993.

The series with Kentucky's boys began in 1940 after the first Indiana boys' team defeated the state high school champions from Frankfort, 31-21, in 1939. This part of the interstate rivalry has been played every year since except for an interruption during the World War II years of 1943 and 1944.

The girls' series began and made the annual confrontations double-headers in 1976 when the inaugural game was a Kentucky 59-48 win in Louisville's Freedom Hall. A week later Indiana turned the tables behind its first Miss Basketball Judi Warren, 68-55, in Market Square Arena.

This spring marks the first year in the series' history when the Indianapolis Star has sponsored All-Star tryouts for the state's prestigious teams. A tryout for the Indiana girls' team was held for 40 candidates on March 4th, and a similar tryout for boys was conducted March 25, both at Ben Davis High School. The decision to conduct its own tryouts was generally warmly received by the state's coaches.

Net proceeds from those tryouts were split between The Indianapolis Star's Lend A Hand Fund, which receives the revenue from the All-Star games and related activities, and the Scholarship Fund managed by the Indiana

A reception will be held on game day in Conseco Fieldhouse, and all returning former All-Stars and coaches will be introduced at the halftime of the boys Indiana-Kentucky game. BY: ROGER DICKINSON, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE INDIANA BASKETBALL HALL OF FAME

By the time you read this column the pairings for the 2007 City Securities Hall of Fame Classic will have been announced. If you and your team are not involved in a tournament on December 27 & 28 you are invited to scout the action at the New Castle Fieldhouse. The girls will play the first day and the boys will battle it out the second day. The Hall of Fame Classic is the most prestigious tournament in the state and this year's field will make the games as competitive as ever.

Coaches that have a team that show great promise for the 2008-2009 season are encouraged to apply for the tournament that will be held in December 2008. Interested personnel should contact the Hall of Fame, 765-529-1891, or the web site, www.hoopshall.com, for an application. It is desired that the simple one page application, mid-year statistics and roster be returned in January. The selection committee studies the material, follows the rankings and attempts to scout each team before a final selection is made.

The City Securities Hall of Fame Classic is the ideal tournament for coaches to showcase the schools talented team and outstanding player(s), as some of the participating teams always feature strong candidates for the Indianapolis Star Indiana All-Star Team. Media sources from around the state are present to cover the event and the games are televised on WHMB Channel 40.

It is hoped you will plan a trip to the Hall of Fame this spring/summer and enjoy the many new displays that have been created for the public's enjoyment. Each month, visitors from around the world walk through the doors and tour the Hall, as well as basketball fans from an average of 21 different states.

Hoosier basketball, there is nothing like it.
