From The Coaches' Box

By Chris Benedict

Welcome back to yet another year of Indiana High School Basketball. We hope that the preparations that we all go through for the upcoming season are going smoothly and the anticipation is growing in your communities.

The IBCA is working hard to become more prevalent with the IHSAA to continue to grow our game and tournament. Our organization will be tested to work together to come up with ideas for a proposal to unite the coaches, players, fans and IHSAA to restore the great traditions of our tournament within the class system or some compromise. We must lead the charge as an organization. The best way to show our commitment to this issue we must increase our membership and also take an active part in it. We look for everyone to participate in surveys to have your voice heard.

We encourage you to take a look at the new updated website that contains all the information for our organization. Many forms, policies and procedures for the Top 100 Underclass Showcase, All-State / Junior All-Star selections are posted as well as scholarship, awards and other items to promote your players through our organization. Please look for mailings and e-mail reminders from the IBCA to get these nomination forms in on time.

The IBCA is extremely fortunate in these economic times to have the amount of sponsorships that we have make contributions to our organization. BSN Sports, Indiana Pacers and Best Choice Home Health, along with many others, continue to support our organization in many capacities. We appreciate all they do for us. A full list of sponsors is located on our website.

The Indiana-Kentucky All-Star Series will have its Diamond Anniversary (75 years) this summer. The IBCA took over the running of the All-Star series this past year and we want to thank Charlie Hall and Pat McKee for their leadership in making this transition successful. We continue to grow this event with now a Junior All-Star game as well with Kentucky. Look for more information later on the events to honor special Diamond Anniversary celebration.

Our impact on the players we serve as a coach continues to be the greatest thrill of our profession. The Xs and Os never are as important as the life-lasting relationships we build with young men and women in their years they are shaping their beliefs. You and I both know, we play a major role in that for these kids. We as coaches should enjoy that awesome responsibility to lead in a positive way.

Finally, I am looking forward to the challenges we face as an organization and serving as your president. Remember, that your District Representatives and Executive Board are here for you. We must continue to work together to help move our organization forward. We wish you the best on and off the court.

From The Executive Director

By Steve Witty

It's that time of year again. A new and exciting basketball season is upon us. By now every head coach should have received a membership mailing or you can go online to join your professional organization. We encourage each member head coach to make sure that all his high school assistants, junior high and elementary coaches also become members of the IBCA. The success of any organization is due to the support of its members. The IBCA appreciates the support of all member coaches.

Please pay attention to the IBCA calendar of events. Be watching for an important January mailing that includes nomination and election information. Please note the deadlines for nominating players for honor teams, scholarships, showcase as well as ballots for District Representatives and Coaches of the Year. Don't hurt deserving a candidate's chances of receiving recognition because you forgot to join the IBCA or missed the deadline.

Check out our new updated website. A new website feature, sponsored by the National High School Basketball Coaches Association in conjunction with Winning Hoops, is the "Play of the Day." Each member coach can go to our website each day and get the play of the day. Bi-monthly coaches' in-service articles will continue beginning in October and run through April.

The IBCA was excited to take over management of the Indiana-Kentucky All-Star Series this past summer. Right at 6,000 people were in attendance and $33,000 was raised for various charities, including the Indiana National Guard. We are fortunate and appreciate Best Choice Home Health for coming on board as the presenting sponsor of this event for the next few years.

A special thanks to the All-Star Games Director Charlie Hall and special projects coordinator Pat McKee for their efforts. This successful transition could not have been possible without the many IBCA Board Members who volunteered their time to help where ever needed. A Junior All-Star game vs. Kentucky has been added to the tradition of this event.

This summer will be the Diamond Anniversary, 75 years, (1939-2013) that an Indiana All-Star team has been selected. The first game vs. Kentucky began in 1940. Watch for future information about a special Diamond Anniversary celebration.

This past spring because of pressure from the state legislature, the IHSAA conducted various town hall meetings to allow the public to express their view about single-class vs. multiple-class basketball. The majority of the people in attendance at the town hall meetings supported single-class basketball. In an IHSAA survey after the town hall meetings concluded, a majority of the players, principals and ADs supported the present four-class system. The coaches' vote was a near 50/50 split on the issue. The IHSAA has gone on record that the only way change can take place is if the IBCA makes a proposal for change.

The IBCA's position is that this issue does not have to be an "either/or" scenario (single class vs. multiple class), but that there are some interesting compromise ideas out there that need to be investigated.

The IBCA is creating a committee to study these compromise ideas. The committee will identify two or three of the best compromises, and all member coaches will get an opportunity to express their viewpoint in a survey.

Keep in mind, we probably need at least 70 percent support for a compromise idea before the IHSAA will seriously consider a change. Similar support from the principals and ADs is necessary before any change is possible. The IBCA goal is to get this survey out to all coaches by mid-October. This is your chance for input. Please complete this survey in a timely fashion, so your voice can be heard.

January again will be Coaches vs. Cancer month for High School Basketball in Indiana. High School Coaches in Indiana have stepped up and embraced this program, raising more than $500,000 for cancer research in the past five years. Thanks for being a great role model for your team and community by helping fight this deadly disease.

We all belong to a great profession. Coaches have the opportunity to make a positive impact on the lives of the young people we serve even well beyond the field of competition. Regardless of the criticism we sometimes receive or the support we receive or don't receive from parents, administration and community, young people always will need coaches. Good luck this season.

Pacers Sports & Entertainment sponsorship

The IBCA thanks Pacers Sports & Entertainment for its continued support of our organization. This would not be possible without the help of Jim Morris, Rick Fuson and Quinn Buckner.

IBCA/Subway Player of the Week program

About 100 high school boys and girls will have the opportunity to win IBCA/Subway Player of the Week recognition in 2012-13.

Initiated in 2008-09 thanks to support from the Indiana Pacers and Indiana Fever, these awards were given to deserving boys and girls who had outstanding weeks during the last four seasons. Last season alone, 104 players -- 56 boys and 48 girls -- were cited.

For the coming season, plans are for at least one boy and one girl from each of the three IHSAA districts are honored each week, so long as there are nominees for the awards. The IBCA would prefer that nominations come from coaches of potential winners or from media in those areas. Coaches are to be IBCA members to nominate players.

To submit a nominee, please e-mail info to IBCA Director of Special Projects Pat McKee (patmckee77@aol.com) by noon Monday each week of the playing season (girls from Nov. 12 through March 4; boys from Nov. 26 through March 25).

If you nominate a player, please include the player's name, school, grade, height, position, year in school and a recap of the player's performance in his/her game or games of the preceding week, Monday through Saturday. Please also include the coach's name, e-mail address and best phone number to reach the coach.

After all players are selected during a given week, they will be added to a growing list of IBCA/Subway High School Players of the Week. The weekly listings will be posted no later than noon Tuesday. Coaches and/or Athletic Directors of the weekly winners will be notified by Pat McKee.

The first deadline for reports for the coming season will be noon on Monday, Nov. 12 for girls and noon on Monday, Nov. 26 for boys. These will continue each week through the Monday following the IHSAA Boys and Girls State Finals.

January is 'Coaches vs. Cancer' month

The IBCA again has designated January as "Coaches vs. Cancer" month for high school Basketball in Indiana. In the first five years of this initiative, boys' and girls' coaches across Indiana raised nearly $500,000. In 2011-12 coaches, teams and communities stepped up to raise $113,000. That makes the five-year total from Indiana basketball coaches more than $473,000.

For 2012-13, ideally pick a date in January for a "Coaches vs. Cancer" game. If not January, please pick a date that works for you and host a "Coaches vs. Cancer" game.

The American Cancer Society also will present banners to programs that meet certain levels of donations. Categories are Champion ($10,000 or more), MVP ($5,000 to $9,999) and All Star ($2,500 to $4,999).

In August 2012, the American Cancer Society recognized coaches from Carroll (Flora), Columbus North and South Dearborn as top schools for 2011-12 with a golf outing and dinner hosted by Notre Dame men's basketball coach Mike Brey.

This January, we are asking every IBCA boys' and girls' coach to select a game to promote "Coaches vs. Cancer."

All participating schools will be recognized this year on www.coachesvscancerindiana.org; those raising a total of $2,500 or more through all sports will receive a "Coaches vs. Cancer" recognition banner imprinted with the school's name. To be eligible, all funds raised from throughout the school year must be turned into the local American Cancer Society office no later than June 1, 2013.

"We are very proud of Indiana high schools," said American Cancer Society Coaches vs. Cancer specialist Tara Miller, who helps coordinate the state's effort among IBCA coaches. "And we are extremely proud of our partnership with the IBCA in this extraordinary campaign."

"The commitment of the coaches, teams, parents and participants makes a real impact in the lives of those touched by the disease. We are truly grateful for the continued support. By working together, we can all join the team to create a world with less cancer and more birthdays."

Once you have determined the date for your "Coaches vs. Cancer" game, please e-mail this info to Gene Milner (gmlner@tds.net) so we can list the game dates on our "Coaches vs. Cancer" calendar. During this game, we are asking you to pass a container through the crowd (or make one available at your ticket counter) for fans to make donations. Checks should be made payable to "American Cancer Society."

After the game, we ask you to do the following:

- E-mail or write Steve Witty to let him know you participated and how much money was collected
- Call Bob Lovell of Indiana SportsTalk and let him know how much you collected
- Send a check for the amount collected (payable to the "American Cancer Society") to Steve Witty, P.O. Box 638, Plainfield, IN 46168, who will forward it to the Coaches vs. Cancer office, or you can send it directly to the American Cancer Society, Attention: Tara Miller, 5635 W. 96th Street, Suite 100, Indianapolis, IN 46278.

Please make plans now to include a "Coaches vs. Cancer" game on your schedule for the 2012-13 season. Our goal is 100 percent participation of all high schools in Indiana.

To help support activities at your school, the American Cancer Society will provide a Coaches vs. Cancer Tool Kit with information on how to get started, ideas for fundraising, sample materials to help with local promotion, and a post-event reporting form to submit along with all donations to your local American Cancer Society office.

To request a Coaches vs. Cancer Tool Kit, sign up at www.coachesvscancerindiana.org or contact Tara Miller at (317) 344-7807 or tara.miller@cancer.org.

New NCAA Division I academic requirements for Class of 2016

The NCAA has released an SAT/ACT sliding scale that corresponds with the increased GPA requirements for the class of 2016 and beyond. Any current high school freshman who is even remotely considering the possibility of playing a sport collegiately needs to pay attention. The wiggle room to correct academic shortcomings has been greatly reduced.

Here is a summary of the NCAA Division I academic requirements for a Full Qualifier that take effect for the class of 2016 and beyond:

The minimum core course GPA has increased from 2.00 to 2.30.

10 of the 16 core course requirements must be satisfied prior to the start of the senior year.

7 of those 10 core courses must be from English, Math and Science subsections.

Grades earned in the 10 core courses are "locked in" for the purposes of calculating the final core course GPA.

Any retakes of the first 10 core courses must be completed prior to senior year.

The NCAA also has introduced a new status for the class of 2015 – the "Academic Redshirt." An "Academic Redshirt" may receive a scholarship and practice with his/her team, but he/she may not participate in game competition as a college freshman. Students with a GPA of 2.30 or above may achieve either "Academic Redshirt" or "Full Qualifier" status, depending on their SAT/ACT test scores. Students with a core course GPA between 2.00 and 2.29 cannot attain "Full Qualifier" status but may achieve "Academic Redshirt" status by meeting minimum sliding scale test score requirements.

The new sliding SAT/ACT scale results in significant changes in minimum test score requirements. The minimum SAT score required to compete as a college freshman increased by 180 points while the minimum ACT score increased by an average of 14 points (sum score).

Here are two examples of changes to the new sliding scale:

Example 1

Prior to 2016: 2.00 core course GPA + 1010 SAT or 86 ACT = Full Qualifier 2016 and after: 2.00 core course GPA + 1020 SAT or 86 ACT = Academic Redshirt

Example 2

Prior to 2016: 2.50 core course GPA + 820 SAT or 68 ACT = Full Qualifier 2016 and after: 2.50 core course GPA + 1000 SAT or 85 ACT = Full Qualifier Remember, the NCAA does not include the writing component of the SAT or ACT and the ACT score is a sum score (not average) of the English, math, reading and science sections.

Finally, just because a student-athlete meets the minimum NCAA academic standards, it does not mean they will be admitted to play sports at the college of their choice. Many universities have academic standards for incoming freshman athletes that are higher than the NCAA minimum requirements.

What does all this mean? Student-athletes must start tracking courses early. A student-athlete should calculate his/her initial core course GPA at the conclusion of his/her first semester in high school and continue to do so each semester thereafter.

Now more than ever, every semester counts.

2012-2013 Coaching Changes

From the end of last season through late September, 165 people have been hired as new varsity basketball coaches in Indiana high schools -- 79 to boys basketball positions and 86 to girls basketball positions -- for the 2012-13 season.

The number of changes is greater than the 2011 off-season, but the total is well short of the 188 changes made in the spring and summer of 2007.

According to data compiled by HickoryHusker.com, here are the number of changes for the 13 years prior to the 2012 offseason: 2011 - 154; 2010 - 162; 2009 - 146; 2008 - 148; 2007 - 188; 2006 - 152; 2005 - 146; 2004 - 147; 2003 - 141; 2002 - 135; 2001 - 139; 2000 - 125; 1999 - 129; 1998 - 133.

Here is a list of the 2012 changes for Indiana boys basketball and girls basketball varsity positions.

All-Star Report

The Indiana All-Star series went through some exciting changes in 2012. Even though the series always has belonged to Indiana high school coaches because you have developed the great talent that has given us a competitive edge over Kentucky, the IBCA now is in charge of producing all aspects of the games.

We also added a home-and-home Junior All-Star series with Kentucky. Kentucky moved their game from Bellarmine to Freedom Hall and almost doubled their attendance.

Former All-Star Steve Downing has taken over as athletic director at Marian University, and that has solidified our partnership with Marian as our gracious hosts for the All-Star week.

Rob New, who has returned to the coaching ranks at Scecina High School, has put his company (Best Choice Home Health) behind the games as our title sponsor. This is absolutely critical to the financial well being of the series.

The Indianapolis Star has provided more than $150,000 of promotional space in the newspaper and online. The newspaper is very excited about the job Steve Witty and the IBCA did. It has signed on for next year and wants to discuss increased involvement.

We won our eighth straight boys game and our girls put up two strong efforts. Both teams represented Indiana with a lot of class both on and off the court.

The games raised more than $30,000 for the IBCA Scholarship Fund, the Indiana National Guard and the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame.

The All-Star Game Day Shootout had its fourth successful year at Ben Davis. Our crowd was just shy of 6,000 fans for the fourth year in a row.

I want to give a special thanks to Pat McKee and his wife, Lori. They jumped in with both feet and helped us through the first year without The Star's direct involvement. Beth DeVinney was a great Junior All-Star liaison despite being right in the middle of a job change.

We were so lucky to have 12 great coaches AGAIN. Our senior staff of Craig Teagle, Tom Bradley and Chris Johnson along with Scott Kreiger, Alana Harrington and Karla Rieckers were totally selfless with their time and efforts.

Scott Heady, Marvin Rea, Stacy Meyer along with Eric Thornton, Jeff Knoy, and Greg Werner took on extra duty as our Junior All-Stars played four games for the first time ever. Also, Pat McKee assisted coach Thornton with the Junior girls when others could not be at the Junior games against Kentucky. Together, this group worked around their busy summer schedules and found time to guide our Juniors to a 3-1 start to our series with Kentucky.

Lastly, I want to thank Steve Witty and so many of the IBCA members who volunteered to help with the many facets of producing the games. The year went very well and I can't wait until 2013!

Tentative dates for 2013 are Senior vs. Junior exhibitions on June 3 (site TBA) and 5 (site TBA), the Indiana-Kentucky Senior Games on June 7 (Freedom Hall) and June 8 (Bankers Life Fieldhouse), and the Indiana-Kentucky Junior Games on June 14 (site TBA) and June 15 (site TBA).

IBCA represented at national meeting

By Steve Witty

Executive director Steve Witty represented the IBCA at the National High School Basketball Coaches Association (NHSBCA) conference in Wisconsin in July 2012 to share ideas and help the association continue to organize.

This organization was developed as a result of a meeting held in Indianapolis in 2004. Besides Indiana, representatives from Texas, Ohio, New York, Michigan and Wisconsin were in attendance at that meeting.

The mission of the organization is to unite high school basketball coaches across the country, to promote the game and/or empower the high school coaching profession.

Every high school coach who joins his/her state's high school coaches association automatically becomes a member of the National High School Basketball Coaches Association.

The National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) officially recognizes the NHSBCA. The NABC also allows a high school representative on its congress and offers a reduced-price membership to the NABC (from $70 to $29.50) for all high school coaches who are members of his/her high school state coaches association.

During its 2012 summer meeting, the NHSBCA hired David Ginsberg as its first executive director. Ginsberg is from Michigan, is a retired administrator and former high school and college coach.

Louis Stout, president of the Amateur Athletic Union and former commissioner of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association, spoke. His main message was that AAU is not the enemy of high school basketball and that there is more common ground between AAU coaches and high school coaches than we realize. (Stout, 73, passed away on Sept. 9 after becoming ill in August.)

A deal was worked out with the Winning Hoops group to provide the "Play of the Day" to every high school-member coach. As most of you know, this now is a feature on the IBCA website.

It also was decided to organize a National Rising Senior Tournament to be held in Indianapolis in July 2013. At this time, 12 states are committed to this event. More information on this event will be coming soon.

The NHSBCA officers include Greg Grantham, president, North Carolina; David Archer, past president, New York; Steve Witty, vice president/treasurer, Indiana; Rich Czeslawski, communications director, Illinois.

As more states become involved with the NHSBCA, we hope to gain an even louder voice with the NCAA, the NABC, the National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS) and others for the betterment of high school basketball.

Go to www.nhsbca.org to learn more about the organization and other benefits available to high school coaches.

Hoosier Basketball Magazine hosts annual Top 60 Senior Workouts

By Garry Donna, Hoosier Basketball Magazine

Sixty of Indiana's best senior boys as well as 60 of Indiana's best senior girls' high school players will be invited to participate in Hoosier Basketball Magazine's 2013 Top 60 Senior Workouts held in conjunction with the IHSAA and the Indiana Basketball Coaches Association.

The 31st annual Girls' Top 60 Senior Workout will be Sunday, March 10, 2013, on the campus of Marian University on the westside of Indianapolis. The 26th annual Boys' Top 60 Senior Workout also will take place at Marian University in Indianapolis on Saturday, April 7, 2013.

Both Top 60 Senior Workouts will begin at 1:00 p.m. and include two sessions— 1:00-3:00 p.m. and 3:30-5:30 p.m.

The two workouts are coordinated by Hoosier Basketball Magazine publisher Garry Donna. Former state championship coach Rick Risinger of Heritage Christian will serve as on-court director of the 2013 Girls' Top 60 Senior Workout, assisted by IBCA-member coaches. IBCA-member coaches will also be conducting the Boys' Top 60. Director Steve Lynch of Mt. Vernon (Fortville) will lead the on-court activities.

These workouts give the state's outstanding seniors a chance to meet and compete. They also afford college coaches an opportunity to observe the players against top quality competition.

While NOT a tryout for the Indiana All-Star teams, these events give Indiana-Kentucky All-Star game director Charlie Hall and his Indiana All-Star coaches, both boys and girls, the opportunity to observe the state's best senior players against top-flight competition.

For further details, call Garry Donna at (317) 496-1700 or (317) 925-8200. Or send him an e-mail at hoosierbllmag@att.net.

NFHS rule changes for 2012-13

Participation and fan interest in high school basketball remain strong throughout the nation, and the National Federation of State High School Associations' Basketball Rules Committee voted to retain one aspect of the sport that makes it unique from other levels of play.

At its 2012 meeting on April 16-18 in Indianapolis, the committee considered a proposal to add a shot clock to the high school rules but agreed that the sport played by about one million boys and girls in approximately 18,000 high schools is functioning well without it.

Although a shot clock has been employed at the college level for many years, results of the questionnaire that is sent to coaches, officials and state association administrators across the country did not indicate a strong desire to use the clock at the high school level.

"In addition to the fact that there is some concern about the costs associated with the use of a shot clock, the committee also expressed a belief that the game is typically played with an up-tempo style even without a shot clock," said Kent Summers, director of performing arts and sports at the NFHS. "In addition, the committee believes that coaches should have the option of a slower-paced game if they believe it makes their team more competitive in specific situations. This could be especially true for smaller schools with limited budgets, which comprise a significant number of the 18,000 basketball-playing schools. Since the NFHS writes rules for all sizes of schools and teams, it has to consider what is best for the masses."

The committee did approve one rule change and two major editorial changes, which subsequently were approved by the NFHS Board of Directors.

Rule 2-12 will now require the official scorer to wear a black-and-white vertically striped garment. Previously, this was a recommendation for schools.

"The players, coaches and officials need to be able to quickly and easily identify the official scorer, and making this a requirement should assist in that regard," Summers said.

One of the editorial revisions approved by the committee concerns changes made last year in a team-control foul. The following language will be added to Rule 4-19-7: "... including a member of the throw-in team from the start of the throw-in until player control is obtained inbound."

The committee noted that the team-control rule change last season introduced an unnecessary level of complexity to a number of rules. This additional language will allow all rules affected by the team-control definition change last season to revert to previous verbiage.

The other editorial change is Rule 2-2-4, which expands the timeframe for state associations to intercede in the event of unusual incidents from after a game, to before and during a contest.

In addition, the Basketball Rules Committee approved four points of emphasis for the 2012-13 season: 1) closely guarded situations; 2) contact above the shoulders; 3) intentional fouls; and 4) guidelines to enforce illegal contact. Points of emphasis are specific rules that need more attention by players, coaches and officials.

Basketball is the second-most popular sport for girls and third-most popular for boys at the high school level, according to the 2010-11 High School Athletics Participation Survey conducted by the NFHS, with 438,933 girls and 545,844 boys participating nationwide. The sport ranks first in school sponsorship of girls and boys teams with 17,767 schools sponsoring the sport for girls and 18,150 sponsoring the sport for boys.

Last year's tournament provided a great atmosphere and great games. We expect much the same this year with two fields lined with star players, outstanding teams and some of the top coaches in the state. The tournament features some of the best competition from the state and is a great opportunity to bring your team for a day of basketball.

The Hall of Fame museum, a 14,000-square-foot shrine to Indiana high school basketball, is another great opportunity for a team outing. A number of our memorabilia displays have been updated this summer. We have had visitors from coast to coast visit this summer who have come away impressed with the history and Indiana's passion for high school basketball.

As a team-building trip, to build excitement for the season or for a mid-season history lesson, we offer an affordable option for teams -- $1 per player with coaches free. Keep in mind that no player on your roster this year had been born when Damon Bailey, Alan Henderson, Glenn Robinson and others were finishing their careers in the early 1990s, let alone players such as Oscar Robertson, Rick Mount, Larry Bird, Steve Alford and so many more legends. The Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame is a true history lesson that all current players could use.

We encourage you to visit our new website at www.hoopshall.com, which features sections on our inductees and honorees, upcoming events, press releases, and our online gift shop.

The Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame continued to add to our membership last year with a special offer to IBCA members. Coming again this year, we encourage you to support the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame by becoming an Active Coach member for $25. This is a savings of 75 percent off of our typical rate and gives you the same benefits as a regular member, including free admission to the museum and a 20 percent discount off items in our gift shop or online store.

I hope you will enjoy some of our numerous activities with the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame this year and appreciate your support as we celebrate the history, tradition, and memories of basketball in our state, while educating and cultivating the next generation of Indiana basketball fans.

Contact our office at (765) 529-1891 or email chris@hoopshall.com for more information or if we can help you.
