2012 CLINIC FEATURES

Items such as a Coaches' Roundtable, an Issues & Answers Forum plus a session on teaching Free Throw Technique from former Valparaiso High School coach Virgil Sweet highlight the agenda for the 2012 Indiana Basketball Coaches Association Spring Clinic.

Of course, outstanding speakers – this year Michigan State's Tom Izzo, Butler's Beth Couture, Valparaiso's Bryce Drew and IUPUI's Todd Howard – remain a staple for the two-day gathering that is set for April 27-28 at Lawrence North High School in Indianapolis.

Sessions begin at 11:45 a.m. Friday, April 27 and run through 10:20 p.m. that evening. Sessions resume at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, April 28 and conclude at 12:30 p.m. Cost to attend the clinic is $50 for current IBCA members and $75 for non-members.

The Coaches' Roundtable tips off the Clinic agenda and will feature Hall of Fame inductees Mike Broughton, Jim Miller and Ed Siegel on a panel moderated by Indiana SportsTalk host Bob Lovell. The three coaches will discuss steps that they took to make their programs successful for the long run, and questions from those in attendance will be encouraged. (More on these three coaches can be found elsewhere in this E-newsletter.)

Nine of this year's 12 IBCA Coaches of the Year also will speak during the program (more on all 12 IBCA Coaches of the Year can be found elsewhere in this E-Newsletter). Hebron's John Steinhilber, Griffith's Tom Golumbeck and Fort Wayne Canterbury's Scott Kreiger are other high school coaches who will speak at this year's clinic.

2012 CLINIC SPEAKERS

Tom Izzo, Michigan State University

Tom Izzo is in his 17th season as Michigan State men's basketball coach, and his Spartans have compiled an impressive list of accomplishments, including the 2000 NCAA championships, seven Big Ten regular-season championships, three Big Ten Tournament championships, 15 consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, 10 Sweet Sixteen spots and six Final Four berths.

Izzo, 412-169 with another Sweet Sixteen berth in 2012, is a four-time National Coach of the Year who has graduated 81 percent of his players who completed their eligibility. He has had six All-Americans, 12 NBA draft picks, six first-round NBA draft picks and 25 all-Big Ten players.

In 2009, Izzo passed Jud Heathcote (340 wins) to become MSU's all-time winningest coach. His teams made six Final Fours between 1999 and 2010, becoming just the fourth school to do so in any 12-year span. He has an overall win percentage of .709. This was his 29th season in East Lansing, the first 12 as an assistant to Heathcote.

The 57-year-old coach also is a leader off the floor, serving as president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches in 2010-11. Izzo also is a member of the John R. Wooden Award Board of Governors and the USA Basketball Collegiate Committee.

Four current NCAA Division I head coaches are former Izzo assistants. That group includes Indiana's Tom Crean, South Florida's Stan Heath, Georgia Tech's Brian Gregory and Tulsa's Doug Wojcik. Current assistant Mike Garland was a head coach at Cleveland State after a previous stint as an Izzo assistant, and former assistants Stan Joplin and Jim Boylen have been head coaches at Toledo and Utah, respectively.

Izzo joined the MSU coaching staff as a part-time assistant in 1983. A Spartans' assistant from 1983-86, Izzo left in May 1986 to become the top assistant at Tulsa. But one month later, he returned to MSU when Mike Deane departed Michigan State to become head coach at Siena. Izzo took over as head coach for the 1995-96 season.

Izzo came to Michigan State from Northern Michigan, where he served as an assistant from 1979-83. Izzo played guard at NMU from 1973-77 and was voted the team's MVP as a senior. He was a third-team NCAA Division II All-American, then coached one season at Ishpeming (Mich.) High School before moving to the college ranks. Izzo was inducted into the NMU Hall of Fame in 1990 and was installed in the Upper Peninsula Hall of Fame in 1998. He has delivered commencement addresses and received honorary degrees at both NMU and MSU.

Izzo and his wife, Lupe, have two adult children – Raquel and Steven.

Beth Couture, Butler University

Beth Couture has helped Butler University become one of the premier women's basketball programs in the Midwest.

Fresh off her 10th season with the Bulldogs, Couture's teams have compiled a 161-144 record. Her tenure has included a stretch of four consecutive 20-win seasons, six straight winning seasons and three consecutive postseason Women's NIT berths.

Couture has a career mark of 419-261, including 13 seasons at Presbyterian College (S.C.), and her three-year Butler string of postseason appearances is a program first since the Bulldogs moved to NCAA Division I in 1984-85. Her top season at Butler came in 2009-10, when the Bulldogs went 23-10 and qualified for the WNIT. The year before, Butler went 20-12 and made the WNIT second round. The 'Dogs also made the WNIT in 2010-11.

During Couture's tenure, the Bulldogs have had 10 players selected to all-Horizon League teams, five chosen to the all-newcomer squad and six picked for the all-defensive team. She has had six players score more than 1,000 career points and five players pursue overseas opportunities as professional players.

Couture became a college head coach in 1989-90 at Presbyterian. She went 258-117 with eight 20-win seasons and six NCAA Division II berths, four times earning South Athletic Conference Coach of the Year. She previously was an assistant for two seasons at Presbyterian after compiling a 49-28 record as head coach at Due West (S.C.) Dixie High School in three years.

A native of Greenville, S.C., Couture is a 1984 graduate of Erskine College where she was a four-time basketball team MVP and a Kodak All-American as a senior. She was inducted into the Erskine Hall of Fame in 1989. She earned her bachelor's degree at Erskine and a master's degree at Furman University in 1987.

Personally, Couture has overcome adversity. She was diagnosed with breast cancer in April 2009, then went through chemotherapy and radiation treatments to return to the court by November 2009. She has been cancer-free since 2010 and has become a community leader in the fight against the disease. She was recognized as Butler's 2010 Woman of Distinction for her role in battling the disease.

Bryce Drew, Valparaiso University

Bryce Drew recently completed his first season as Valparaiso University head coach following six seasons as an assistant coach at the school.

He opened in fine fashion, leading the Crusaders to a 22-12 season as a first-year boss that included a Horizon League regular-season championship and a postseason NIT berth. The successes led to Drew being named HL Coach of the Year as well as two VU players being recognized with first-team all-league honors and one of them (junior Ryan Broekhoff) earning accolades as HL Player of the Year. This all occurred with a team that was picked to finish fifth in the HL in the preseason.

Drew played at Valparaiso for his father, Homer, becoming the school's most decorated player by leading the team to three NCAA Tournaments, hitting one of the most famous shots in NCAA Tournament history in a 1988 upset of Mississippi (a play that won an ESPY) and then going to the NBA for a six-year career with the Houston Rockets, Chicago Bulls and Charlotte/New Orleans Hornets.

He started 41 games for the Bulls and averaged 6.3 points and 3.9 assists in 2000-01, and he completed his NBA career with 1,081 points and hitting 37 percent of his 3-point attempts. He also was honored in 1999 by the NBA with its Henry P. Iba Citizen Athlete Award for Sportsmanship.

Drew joined the VU coaching staff in 2005-06 and helped the Crusaders to 102 wins over six seasons, including a 23-win season in 2010-11. During his tenure as an assistant coach, he has coached 13 players who went on to play professional basketball overseas.

A graduate of Valparaiso High School, Drew was named Indiana's Mr. Basketball in 1994 immediately made an impact at VU. He was Mid-Continent Conference Newcomer of the Year, four times won all-league honors. Three times was Mid-Con Tournament MVP and twice was Mid-Con league MVP. He capped his career by being named third-team All-American as a senior. He also played for a U.S. team that won the World University Games in 1997.

Drew twice is a member of the VU Hall of Fame, inducted individually in 2003 and as part of the 1998 Sweet Sixteen team in 2009. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in sports management.

The 37-year-old coach and his wife, Tara, reside in Valparaiso.

Todd Howard, IUPUI

Todd Howard recently finished his first season as head coach at IUPUI, directing the Jaguars to a 14-18 mark that included a 7-11 slate in the Summit League. In his inaugural campaign, he had one player (senior Alex Young) chosen first-team all-conference and another (sophomore Ian Chiles) picked to the all-newcomer squad.

Howard became the seventh coach in IUPUI history in April 2011 when he was selected to succeed Ron Hunter, for whom he had served as an assistant for 16 seasons, the last 10 as associate head coach. Before his promotion, Howard had been recognized by Hoop Scoop and Fox Sports as one of the top assistant/associate coaches among mid-major programs.

Howard long has been a key factor in IUPUI's success, including a school-best 26-win season in 2007-08 and the program's first NCAA Division I postseason win in 2010. He also helped recruit talented players such as George Hill, who went on to become a Summit League Player of the Year, get drafted in the NBA first round by the San Antonio Spurs and now plays for the Indiana Pacers. Hill is one of seven Indiana All-Stars signed out of high school by IUPUI since Howard became associate head coach.

Also since that move, IUPUI has captured or played for six league titles, produced two league Players of the Year, two Newcomers of the Year, a Sixth Man of the Year and a Defensive Player of the Year.

A native of Louisville, Howard is a 1989 graduate of Louisville Ballard High School and helped his team win a Kentucky state title in 1988. He went on to play at the University of Louisville for Hall of Fame coach Denny Crum on teams that twice won Metro Conference titles and three times played in the NCAA Tournament. Howard then served one season as a student-assistant coach under Crum before moving to IUPUI.

Howard and his wife, Patti, have two children – Adam, 12, and Katie, 9.

2012 CLINIC SPEAKERS

Virgil Sweet, former Valparaiso High School coach

Virgil Sweet is widely known for what is known in coaching circles as the Valpo Free Throw Method. The former Valparaiso High School coach – who directed the Vikings from 1954-74, helped found the IBCA and for whom IBCA Distinguished Service Awards are named – will teach that method as part of the 2012 IBCA clinic.

It is a technique that helped his teams capture 14 sectionals, including 11 in a row, and two regionals over his 20 seasons. With protégés such as Dale Ciciora, Skip Collins, Bob Punter and Joe Otis guiding the Vikings for all but two of the past 58 seasons, the Valpo Free-Throw Method has lived on and helped contribute to 37 sectional crowns since Sweet arrived in 1954.

Sweet's 1963-64 team shot a national high school team record .792 for the season, and his last 15 teams each shot better than 70 percent from the line with a combined .728 accuracy rate. Of note, former player Mike Copper, retired superintendent of Lawrence Township Schools, set a national record for high school players by making 409 consecutive free throws. Copper is one of 11 players who made 100 or more in a row during practice sessions.

Valparaiso honored Sweet and his legacy during the past season, holding a Virgil Sweet Night on Dec. 27, 2011, as part of a game against Chesterton. That night, Sweet shared credit for the Free-Throw Method with Ciciora, his assistant coach of 15 seasons.

"We developed a free throw method with 20 steps, and many of the steps were Dale's suggestions," Sweet said. "The method was a great improvement, and we noticed a big difference on the team. We wrote a book about it, and it told in all 50 states and in five countries."

A 1945 graduate of Covington High School and a 1950 graduate of Eastern Illinois University, Sweet guided his teams to 342 victories in a 25-year career, the last 20 at Valparaiso. Sweet coached two high school All-Americans, 57 players who went on to play in college and 20 who became coaches.

"Coach Sweet is the single most influential person in the history of Viking basketball," Collins said. "VHS basketball, mediocre at best when he arrived, has enjoyed consistent success of the succeeding 55-plus years."

Copper will be on hand and demonstrate free throw technique as Sweet explains each of the 20 steps to those attending the IBCA clinic. They also will explain several Free Throw drills.

Sweet, 84, has been inducted into four basketball halls of fame, including the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame in 1987. He lives in Largo, Fla., and sells real estate in the St. Petersburg/Clearwater area.

Scott Kreiger, Fort Wayne Canterbury

Scott Kreiger has had tremendous success during his tenure as girls basketball coach at Fort Wayne Canterbury.

Kreiger's Cavaliers have compiled a 251-88 record over 14 seasons, including Class A state championships in 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2012. His teams also have won 12 sectionals, six regionals and four semistate crowns.

His most recent squad went 25-2, beating Northeast Dubois 64-54 in the state title game in Terre Haute. That record matched the mark of his 2009-10 squad as the best record in program history.

A 1983 graduate of Columbia City High School and a 1988 graduate of Manchester College, Kreiger played basketball in high school and for one season in college. He began his coaching career in 1984-85, serving for 14 seasons as an assistant coach to his father, Wayne, with the Columbia City girls. He then moved to Canterbury as head coach beginning in 1998-99 and has built that program into a state power.

Kreiger three times has been chosen the Class A state Coach of the Year by the Indiana Coaches of Girls Sports Association, and he was selected the NFHS Indiana Coach of the Year in 2010. He also has been selected to serve as head coach of the 2012 Indiana Girls All-Star Team.

Kreiger, who also has a master's degree from IPFW, teaches high school math at Canterbury. He and his wife, Stacie, have four children – Colten, 22; Cassie, 19; Christian, a freshman at Canterbury; and Cameron, a sixth-grader at Canterbury.

John Steinhilber, Hebron

John Steinhilber has guided the Hebron boys to a 36-10 record over two seasons, including a 23-2 mark in 2011-12 that included Porter County Conference and sectional championships. His team's defensive average of 45.3 is the school's best since 1952, and his 2011 squad was the South County Tournament champions.

A graduate of Boone Grove High School and Saint Joseph's College, Steinhilber has an overall coaching mark of 157-154 in 14 seasons. He previously coached for six years at South Central (Union Mills) and guided the Satellites to two PCC titles as well as coaching a 2010 Indiana All-Star. He also coached for six seasons at Calumet and led the Warriors to a 2000 sectional title.

Steinhilber worked the IBCA Underclass Showcase in 2009 and 2010 and coached in the 2012 Indiana Elite North-South 2A Junior All-Star game. He also has served as an assistant coach at Andrean, Saint Joseph's College, South Central and Boone Grove.

He and his wife, Melissa, have three sons – Malachi, Isaiah and Xavier.

Tom Golumbeck, Griffith

Tom Golumbeck led the Griffith Lady Panthers to an 18-7 record, a second-place finish in the Northwest Crossroads Conference and a sectional championship in 2011-12.

He is 166-84 in his 11 years at Griffith. During his tenure, Golumbeck's teams have won four sectional titles and a regional championship. His teams are consistently ranked in the top 10 in the state for defense. For the 2011-12 season, Griffith allowed just 31.5 points per game. He was named Girls Basketball Coach of the Year in 2011 by The Times of Northwest Indiana.

Golumbeck currently is a guidance counselor at Griffith High School. He is a 1985 graduate of Highland High School, a 1989 graduate of Indiana University and a 1996 graduate of Purdue University.

IBCA INITIATIVE AGAINST CANCER

Thanks to all coaches, teams, schools and dedicated community members who have participated in the fifth annual IBCA initiative against cancer. Your contributions to support the fight against cancer are much appreciated.

As the E-Newsletter goes to press, with some schools not yet reporting, participating schools have reported raising $113,457.65 -- many schools through the American Cancer Society's formal Coaches vs. Cancer program ($89,171.29) and some schools raising funds and donating to other cancer-related charities such as the Susan G. Komen Foundation, the Sharon L. Bassett Foundation or other local hospitals or agencies ($24,286.36).

This year's efforts by Indiana coaches brings the five-year total of money raised to fight cancer to more than $473,000 through the 2011-12 season.

Those coaches who got their teams involved in the fight against cancer are teaching their players something more important than offense or defense. Coaches are teaching their players a skill that will carry on throughout their lives and into the communities where they will work and serve. Please continue to be a positive influence on the youth of our great state, and help them become productive citizens of tomorrow.

The following is a list of schools that have informed the IBCA and/or the American Cancer Society about their participation in an event to raise funds for cancer charities:

Sixty of Indiana's best class of 2012 senior boys' and senior girls' high school players were invited to participate in Hoosier Basketball's 2012 Top 60 Workouts held annually in conjunction with the IHSAA and the Indiana Basketball Coaches Association.

The 31st annual Girls' Top 60 Senior Workout was held on the campus of Marian University on the westside of Indianapolis on Sunday, March 11, 2011.

The 25th annual Boys' Top 60 Senior Workout will take place at Marian University in Indianapolis on Sunday, April 1, 2011.

Both Top 60 Senior Workouts begin at 1 p.m. and include two sessions – 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The two workouts are coordinated by Hoosier Basketball publisher Garry Donna. Four-time state championship coach Rick Risinger of Heritage Christian served as on-court director of the 2012 Girls' Top 60 Senior Workout, assisted by IBCA-member coaches. IBCA-member coaches will also be conducting the Boys' Top 60 Senior Workout led by on-court director Steve Lynch of Mt. Vernon (Fortville).

These workouts give the state's outstanding seniors a chance to meet and compete as well as afford college coaches an opportunity to observe them against top-quality competition.

While NOT a try-out for the Indiana All-Star team, these events afford Indiana All-Star game director Charlie Hall and his Indiana All-Star coaches, both boys and girls, the opportunity to observe the state's best senior players against each other.

2012 ROY GARDNER AWARD WINNERS

Bob Anderson

Bob Anderson recently completed his 33rd season as an Indiana high school basketball official. During his career, he has worked 30 IHSAA boys basketball tournaments, including five boys State Finals, and he was named the IHSAA/National Federation Officials Association boys basketball Official of the Year in 2006-07.

A 1971 graduate of Purdue University, Anderson started coaching out of college but shifted into officiating because of officials who influenced him when they called his games. He started officiating basketball in 1979 and worked his first IHSAA tournament in 1983. Over the years, he also has worked three girls basketball State Finals and five football State Finals.

Anderson has served as president of the Indiana Officials Association in 1990-91 as well as other positions with that organization.

He recalls a 1999 boys basketball regional game as his most memorable, a contest that pitted Class 4A No. 1 Bloomington South vs. No. 2 Lawrence North and drew a capacity crowd to the Columbus North gym but stands out for reasons beyond South's 55-50 overtime victory. This is the game in which then-LN senior John Stewart collapsed in the latter part of the third quarter and later that evening passed away.

Anderson is a 1966 graduate of Walter Johnson High School in Bethesda, Md. He then attended Purdue and later received his master's degree from Indiana University in 1975. From 1973-2009, he was a teacher for Indianapolis Public Schools at School #68.

Anderson is married to Susan, and he has three sons and two step-daughters.

Ray Tebbe

Ray Tebbe comes full circle in receiving the Roy Gardner Award because Gardner was Tebbe's geometry teacher while Tebbe attended Batesville High School.

Tebbe recently completed his 31st season as an Indiana high school basketball official, and he has worked IHSAA basketball tournaments for 30 of those years. Along the way, he has worked six boys basketball State Finals, three girls basketball State Finals, three football State Finals, five City Securities Hall of Fame Classics (three boys, two girls) and the 1999 Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl (the NCAA Division III football championship game).

Tebbe served as president of the Indiana Officials Association in 1991-92 and was named IHSAA/National Federation Officials Association boys basketball Official of the Year in 1996-97.

A 1970 graduate of Batesville and a 1974 graduate of Ball State with a bachelor's degree in secondary education, Tebbe was a teacher and coach for five years at Shelbyville Middle School. He took a job with Carrier Corp. in 1980, where he still works in the supply chain management group as the sales and operations planning manager.

Tebbe began officiating in 1981 as a way to stay involved with high school athletics, and he recalls two particularly memorable games. One was his first varsity boys basketball game in 1984 at the Elkhart North Side Gym, a game between Elkhart Central and Concord (the Minutemen had a freshman that season named Shawn Kemp). The other was a boys basketball regional game in 1990 at Seymour, the game in which then-Bedford North Lawrence senior Damon Bailey broke the state career scoring record in a 78-58 victory over Scottsburg.

"I called a foul on Damon in the first quarter and all 7,000 fans 'booed' me," Tebbe said. "Even the (Scottsburg) fans. Everyone came to see Damon break the scoring record. When he made the basket to do so (an alley-oop dunk with 5:53 to go in the third quarter), the noise level was so loud for the next three-plus minutes (for a standing ovation for Bailey) that my ears were ringing. Truly unbelievable."

Tebbe and his wife, Denise, have been married for 35 years. They have two adult daughters, Karen and Sara.

2012 MILDRED BALL AWARD WINNER

Roger Holder

Roger Holder gives thanks to his Lord Jesus Christ for giving him the temperament, dedication and love of basketball that have allowed him to officiate for more than 42 years. He thanks his loving (and forgiving) wife, Anita, for giving up all her Fridays and Saturdays for many, many years. He also gives credit to his longtime partner, Ed Scahill, for making him a better official.

Holder started refereeing intramurals at Ball State in 1969 and enjoyed it so much he dedicated himself to it. He has refereed the boys and girls state tournament. He refereed the Hall of Fame Classic at Indiana University when Eric Montross and Lawrence North faced off against Bedford North Lawrence led by Damon Bailey. He also was honored to work the Hall of Fame final at Lafayette Jeff when Shawn Kemp ran out of gas and Concord was defeated by scrappy Lafayette Central Catholic.

Holder received the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame's Center Circle Award in 2010. He now serves as an Associate Director for the Hall of Fame and chairs a selection committee for the Center Circle Award.

As an official, Holder always was careful to have the rules memorized to perfection as he served the IHSAA as a state rules interpreter for nine years. He always believed in being physically and mentally prepared, and he never forgot that the game was for the players. Giving back to the kids is why he has secured the officials for the annual Lions Club Hancock-Shelby County charity basketball game each year since its inception.

Holder still works games on occasion, but his knees have seen better days so he is careful not to do it too often. His other sports of football and softball are far less physically demanding.

A retired school principal, Holder has said: "Who else but a principal gets to referee both during his day job and in his evening avocation?"

Loving sports and kids makes Roger Holder a perfect match for both his "jobs."

Robin Miller District II

Robin Miller graduated from Southport High School in 1967, where he served as a student manager for coach Blackie Braden. Miller was described by Braden as "the worst student manager I ever had. All he does is shoot baskets and give away shoes to his buddies."

Miller then went to Ball State for two quarters and spent a semester at IUPUI before he "got lucky and got hired" by The Indianapolis Star in 1968.

In more than three decades with The Star, Miller covered the Indiana Pacers in their ABA glory days from 1969-72, high school basketball, Indianapolis Caps pro football, Indiana Central University, the Larry Bird days at Indiana State and, of course, the Indianapolis 500.

Racing was Miller's passion as he worked on Indy 500 pit crews from 1970-78 and drove in USAC races from 1975-83. He began writing a racing column in the mid-1970s and in the mid-1980s became a general sports columnist, writing about the Pacers, Indianapolis Colts, high school and college basketball, and racing.

Miller moved in 2001 to ESPN, where he served as an analyst for "RPM 2Nite" and "SportsCenter" as well as writing for the ESPN web site. He joined SPEED network in 2004 and works as an open-wheel racing reporter/analyst for Indy cars as well as covering IndyCar for NBC Sports.

Single for life, Miller treasures his memories of life at The Star, putting out the paper and writing for the city he grew up in. He hates what they did to the high school tournament but still loves to shoot baskets.

INDIANA ALL-STARS

BY CHARLIE HALL

The 72nd renewal of the border war between Indiana and Kentucky is under new management. The IBCA, your coaches association, now is the primary administrator of the All-Star series.

The Indianapolis Star still will be on board as a promotional partner. The IBCA has been an active partner the past few years, and we are looking forward to the increased involvement and strong support of the association. The games are in good hands and should have a bright future with the IBCA.

Steve Witty has taken on a lot of new responsibilities and to my knowledge still has all of his hair (wish I could say the same, ha). Pat McKee, in his role as IBCA Director of Special Projects, will be on board to assist with the production of the games.

The Pacers have continued to be a great supporter of the games. They have agreed to help sponsor the event and allow us to play in Bankers Life Fieldhouse. All of our meal sponsors and cash donors are going to continue to improve the experiences for our All-Stars. We also are in negotiations with a prospective title sponsor that should ensure the charity's solvency for years to come.

Kentucky is moving its games to Freedom Hall from Bellarmine University. The Kentucky coaches association also is getting more involved. Dave Satterly, the Kentucky Director, is as positive as he has been in years about the future of the games.

Most importantly, you and your communities continue to produce great kids (and players) in large numbers. I am really excited and looking forward to this summer's games and beyond.

See you at the games!

Completing that list are Jordin Alexander of Hamilton Southeastern, Brianna Barnett of Elkhart Memorial, Jessica Brown of Mt. The Underclass First Team features Celeste Edwards of Class 4A champion North Central, Maura Muensterman of Class 2A champion Evansville Mater Dei and Kindell Fincher of Class A champion Fort Wayne Canterbury.

A representative from each of those 16 regional areas, plus six at-large representatives, then meet to review those votes and finalize the selections.

INDIANA BASKETBALL HALL OF FAME

BY CHRIS MAY

As we reach the conclusion of the 2011-12 basketball season, I hope that everyone has had another fantastic year.

This past year has been an outstanding one for the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame as we have been involved with events that have furthered the knowledge, interest and love of Indiana high school basketball.

Our 2011 City Securities Hall of Fame Classic was another terrific event drawing some of the best teams, players and coaches of Indiana high school basketball and attracting strong fan support. Congratulations are in order for our girls' tournament champion, Penn, and the boys' champions from Hamilton Southeastern. Further, the hall congratulates each of our eight participants on outstanding seasons.

We look forward to the 2012 City Securities Hall of Fame Classic and hope you will mark your calendars for our Girls' Classic featuring Hamilton Southeastern, Columbus North, Logansport and Evansville Mater Dei on Thursday, Dec. 27 and our Boys Classic featuring Cathedral, Jay County, Indianapolis Tech and Fort Wayne Northrop on Friday, Dec. 28.

We are proud of our newest class of inductees, Silver Anniversary Team honorees, and Center Circle Officials Award honorees for both men and women. Ceremonies for the men took place March 21; the women's annual banquet is on April 28.

We are appreciative of the participation of IBCA-member coaches joining our Hall of Fame membership drive. IBCA-member active coaches are offered a membership for $25 per year, a 75 percent discount off the normal cost. Your support helps us run our operations and share the history and memories of Indiana high school basketball. Your Hall of Fame membership also gives you information and access to the many events that we put on each year. If you and your staff have not taken advantage, please contact us to help get you on board!

Upcoming Hall of Fame events include three golf tournaments this summer. Make plans to join us June 12 at Country Oaks in Montgomery for our Southern Indiana golf outing, June 27 in Kokomo for our coaches golf outing or July 23 in Noblesville at Pebble Brook Golf Club. Call our office at (765) 529-1891 for more information or to register.

If you have not yet visited our website, please head to www.hoopshall.com. The new site, which was launched in September, has information on all Hall of Fame inductees, as well as information about our upcoming events and the ability to register for those events online. The new web site also features our new online gift shop.

In addition, we can be followed on Facebook and Twitter (www.twitter.com/HoopsHall) for news about the Hall of Fame and for a touch of Indiana basketball history.

We always encourage visitors to our New Castle museum. No matter the season, there is always something new to see at the Hall of Fame. We offer extremely low rates for team tours and a trip to the Hall makes for a great team-building activity. We are open seven days a week and are an extremely affordable destination, whether for a group or individuals.

We appreciate the support from the IBCA and the relationship between our organizations. Contact our offices at (765) 529-1891, e-mail me at chris@hoopshall.com, or better yet visit our 14,000-square foot facility in New Castle with any ideas or questions or to simply enjoy some time at the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame.

Sincerely,
-- Chris May
